moment when everything was in readiness they were alarmed by the appearance of scurvy. Happily. however, the attack proved slight, and a plentiful supply of walrus liver, which they obtained from the Esquimaux, enabled them to avert the disease When the boats were launched they leaked a good deal, but the men determined to trust them, and, stowing aboard all their remaining provisions and ammunition, they said farewell to Life Boat Cove. If not perfectly tight, the boats proved themselves excellent sailers, and remarkably easy to row, and on the first day the voyagers reached Sontag Bay.

After remaining there a short time to regain their strength, the party made for Hakluyt Island, where the expedition was brought to a stand-still by a tremendous gale which blew for three full days, with a continuous fall of snow for all that time. Immense flocks of auks, a bird of the penguin species, were encountered here, however, and, as the men could easily take up their guns and kill ten of them at a shot, there was a plentiful supply of fresh previsions, which were very thankfully received. Oceasionally their tiny crafts were sadly beset, and at was feared they would come to grief. But they were among the ice, and there was nothing to be done but to force a passage southward at all hazards. After enduring many privations, and encounterms perils from which their escape seemed almost miraculous, they succeeded at last, through great exertions, in reaching Cape Parry. A few miles below the Cape, at Fitz Clarence Rock, an encampment was made. Every night, when the labors of the day were over, the boats were hauled up upon the floe, and everything taken out, and the only hot meal of the day was prepared. The apparatus employed in cooking was of the most primitive character. Each boat carried a quantity of rigging from the Polaris, and a can of oil. With these a fire was made in the bottom of an old iron bucket. Tea was the only thing that could be made with such an apparatus. They state that the privations they suffered were not serious. The life was rough, laborious, and monotonous; but though dangers occasionally presented themselves well calculated to inspire the greatest fear, no serious accident occurred, and on the 21st of June the boats reached Cape York in safety. Here they were again close beset with ice. On the 23d their troubles came to an end. A whaler was descried a few miles off, and the whole party was at once in a turmoil of excitement. A great fear seemed to take possession of them all at once that the ship might get away before they could make themselves seen, and they put forth every effort to push through the ice with the least possible delay. The vessel proved to be the Ravenseraig of Dundee, Capt. Allan. She soon saw their signals, and Capt. Allan sent his crew to their assistance and took on board their effects, and one of their boats the other being left behind. Capt. Allan treated them, they all say, in the kindest and most generous manner. Subsequently, in order that the whaling operations might not be interrupted. Allan chipped some of the Polaris crew on the Arctic. The flatter vessel completed her season's work earlier than had been expected, and knowing that the crew of the Polaris were anxious to return home, Capt. Adams searched for the Ravenscraig, and took on board the members of the party who had been left with her except three, who had previously been transferred to the Intropid. These three were

The Intrepid is expected home in a few weeks. The rescued sailors say that when they were picked up they had bread enough for one month, but it is the general opinion among them that they would not have succeeded in reaching any settlement. Chester, however, who is spoken of in the highest terms of praise by every one of his compansions, has no doubt whatever that they would have wot southward without any assistance.

Capt. Hall was regarded as peculiarly adapted for the great enterprise under his charge, and all Sament his untimely end. As to the statement that The ship might have aided the party on the ice, all agree that it was impossible after the Polaris broke adrift to learn even the whereabouts of those Beff behind. Every effort was made to find them, but to no avail. Capt. Markham, R. N., accompanied Capt. Adams of the Arctic on his whaling voyage for the purpose of making scientific investigations in the Northern aregions. He left Dundee to-day, and intends to be present at the British Association meeting at Brad-

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.) Washington, Sept. 19.—The Consul at Dundee Scotland, where the explorers now are in a state of destitution, has been directed to provide everything mecessary for their health and comfort, and to send Them by the first ship to New-York. Admiral Reynolds, who is the Acting Secretary in the absence of Mr. Robeson, says the men will be brought to Washington, and an inquiry similar to that instituted with the Tyson party will be held, and the result published. He says, however, that the Secretary will probably not be able to conduct the next investigation for want of time which he will require to get ready for the meeting of Congress.

THE JUNIATA AT ST. JOHN'S.

IBY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUSE. | St. John's, N. F., Sept. 19.—The Juniata was everhauled by the Cabot, at midnight, off the coast of Labrador, and returned this morning. Officers and crew are all delighted at the good news which relieves them of the necessity of further Arctic search. The Juniata will await the return of the Tigress at St. John's.

MESSAGE FROM DR. BESSEL.

[GENERAL PRESS DISPATCH.] GOTHA, Sept. 19 .- Dr. Petermann has received a private dispatch from Dr. Emil Bessel, Chief of the Scientific Corps of the Polaris, announcing his safe arrival with nine others of the Polaris expedition at Dondee. The dispatch briefly states that the party experienced great hardships and had narrow escapes from destruction before they were rescued by the

THE REFORM ASSOCIATION PROJECT. Enrollment books in the interest of the Reform Association were opened last evening in all the Assembly Districts of the city, to remain open for one week. From the returns received at the headquarters at the Everett House it was learned that the movement in the different districts was in working order. The fo owing were some of the officers appointed: IIId District—E. C. Benedict, Chriman. Filh District—P. O. eith, Chairman. Filh District—P. O. eith, Chairman. Filh District—B. J. McLver, Chairman; H. R. conne, Vice Chairman, And District—B. J. McLver, Chairman, and T. Saulters, Secretary.

The meetings were said to be well attended by a good class of men not much known in politics, and their pro-ceedings were reported as harmonious, and especially in the XVIth District. The movement is said to be started more especially for reform in the election of city officers. Each subordinate enrolling officer has blanks for names, which are to be returned to headquarters as fast as filled up. The plan is said to be something like that of the old Citizens' Association.

CHEAP TRANSPORTATION.

DRY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] BUFFALO, Sept. 19 .- The United States Committee on Transportation has spent a busy day, having made a personal inspection of the Eric Canal and the facilities for transportation afforded by city. About 102 this morning, while the rain was falling in drizzling intermittent showers, the Committee and the accompanying party took carriages and drove to the rooms of the Board of Trade. Remaining their but a short time, they went on board the steam-yacht Facion for a visit to Grand Island and Tonawanda. On the way the Committee stopped at a large televator and witnessed the manner of unloading grain from a vessel and transrring it to canal-boats. During four days of this work 355.000 bashels came into port in one fleet, and were unloaded and sent off within 48 hours. There are 32 elevators in the city, and their capacity is 7,215,000 bushels per day: their transferring capacity is 2,715,000 bushels per day. One vessel came in last night with 48,484 bushels, and was unloaded and sent off in 24 hours. During the Committee's stay here, the members were loaded with verbal statistics and arguments in favor of Buffalo enterprises. The ride down the Ningara River was an exceedingly pleasant one, and Grand Island was reached about 2 o'clock. Here a generous dinner was found waiting the party at the Falconwood Club-house. Among the number who sat down to dinand who had received the Committee at the Board of Trade Rooms, were the prominent the Board of France Rooms, were the promining citizens of the city, including C. The Terre Haute, Ind., iron and nail works were totally destroyed by fire yesterday. The loss is estimated at $132,000: insurance, $50,000. Among the action of a court-martial. The regiment was thereupon et at liberty. There remained, however, in the American Central of St. Louis. $2,500.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY. THE FEELING AMONG THE BEARS.

[Continued from Seventh Page.] At the opening of business yesterday, the offices of Osborn & Chapin (the brokers of the "bear" elique), at No. 30 Broad st., were crowded with clerks and brokers, anxious and worried, engaged in delivering stocks. This house was the principal firm engaged in "bulling" gold and "bearing" stocks. At the time of the collapse of the gold combination, it was supposed that they were materially crippled. They, however, remained "short" of these stocks at high prices, and on Thursday, after the greatest decline of that day; "covered" a portion at an enor-mous profit. The stocks were delivered yesterday in due form, and from 10 a. m. until after 4 p. m. the utmost excitement prevailed in their office. The clerical force and banking facilities were not equal to the emergency, and there were fears that the deliveries could not be fully made. The house, however, paid out certified checks until after 3 p. m. and then made arrangements with those who refused to receive their uncertified checks, to carry the stock over night at the current rate for money Despite the troubles attending their reception of the stock, it is generally believed that their house has realized between $3,000,000 and 1$5,000,000 by the SCENES AT " POVERTY CORNER."

The oppressive tightness of the money market seemed to become greater as the day advanced. On the Stock Exchange this tightness was remarkable, a difference of 3 per cent being noticed between the quotations of "cash" and "regular" stocks. At "Poverty Corner" an immense crowd had assembled, but there were no transactions; the rate bid ruled over one per cent per diem. In some cases a few loans were made privately among friends at rates unknown and upon gilt-edged collaterals. But practically there were no operations in this line. Many of the dealers did not make up their bank accounts during the night, and contented themselves with sending collaterals to secure the bank, and apologies to mollify the already greatly worried bank officers.

EFFECTS ON FOREIGN MARKETS. A TRIBUNE reporter inquired of Brown Bros. & Co., Drexel, Morgan & Co., and Morton, Bliss & Co. as to effect of the panic upon the money markets of Europe. He was told that the effect, so far as they were informed, was very slight. In London some excitement might be created among the stock but it would be confined to One of the firm of Brown Bros. dealers, & Co. remarked that the panic had been exceedingly limited in its range here. It was confined to the stock speculators, and ought to produce no effect upon the banking or mercantile interests. If banks had been carelessly managed or had engaged in stock speculation, they would have to affer, and the public would not be the losers by their suffering; but the legitimate business of the city and country ought not to be shaken. Trade was never in a more healthy condition; the crops in all parts of the country were never better, and the general prosperity ought not to be affected by the action of speculators. The panic was the result of over-speculation in railroads and railroad stocks, and did not seem to extend beyond those firms which had been cheaply engaged in them. He had seen a list of twenty firms who had failed, and all the names except those of Fisk & Hatch were unknown to him, though he presumed they were well known on Broad and Wall-sts. The old houses seemed to be safe enough.

THE SHERIFF'S OFFICE QUIET. It is worthy of note that while during the panic of 1857 the clerks and officials attached to the Sheriff's office were busily engaged for weeks, by day and night, entering attachments, levies, and other legal processes, and attending to the business incidental thereto, perfect quiet reigned in the Sheriff's department yesterday. Indeed, the unusual quiet of the day there was the subject of much com-

GENERAL EFFECTS ON TRADE. The effect of the Wall-st. panic on business outside the boundaries of that region is not yet of serious consequence, and will not be unless the panic coninues. On the Produce Exchange, for instance, the dealers are not doing much business, and prices have slightly receded. There is a reluctance to buy or sell until the conflagration among the stock houses has been got underfcontrol, and the runs upon banks and trust companies have ceased. The business of the present week among shippers was mostly concluded before Friday, and the bills of exchange drawn against shipments disposed of. Of course if the panie should last a week longer shippers would have difficulty in placing their bills, and little business could be done. Nobody would be willing to sell maless be felt sure of the solvency of the purchaser. Very few business men could be found who were willing to venture any positive statements, and those who indulged in them contradicted each other, as might be expected in a matter whose issue is utterly uncertain. The utter absence of panic may be noted, however, as a most favorable symptom.

THE BANKS UNDISTURBED.

NO ANXIETY MANIFESTED BY THEIR OFFICERS. The savings and State banks have thus far been entirely unaffected by the Wall-st. panic, and among the up-town banks on Broad way and the avenues west there was not the slightest indication of a run yeserday. The prevailing opinion among the officers of these institutions was that the crisis would tend to the advantage of the banks in question.

H. D. Lewes, eashier of the Security Bank at No. 319 Broadway, anticipated no trouble, and the only noticeable feature there was a light business in the way of de posits on account of the stormy weather. Upon the Dry Goods Bank, No. 347 Broadway, the effect was similar. The officers of the Manhattan Savings Bank, No. 644

Broadway, expressed no doubt as to the stability of that Mr. Buck, treasurer of the Germania, at Fourteenth-

st. and Fourth-ave., said his bank did not deal in fancy stocks, and they did not trouble themselves about affairs in Wall-st.

On Sixth-ave., at the Greenwich, Equitable, Excelsior, and West Side Savings Banks, nothing occurred to dis-turb the monotony of a rainy day. A large number of the National banks up town were also visited, but in all, as in the savings banks, affairs were quiet and the routine of business undisturbed. The connection be-tween all these institutions and affairs in Wall-st, is so emote, say their representatives, that the panic can affect well regulated banks up town, except in a general

At the Atlantic Savings Bank matters were unusually quiet. President Hall remarked that not half a dozen persons had visited the bank during the morning. They neither anticipated nor feared any run.

The same want of excitement was observable at the Citizens' Savings Bank. President Quintard expressed a belief that the present state of affairs in Wall-st., if anything, would prove theneffcial to the up-town say ings banks. Few deposits had been withdrawn during the day.

The Bowery National Bank, according to President DeGraff, was in no wise interested in the failures down town. Their business was entirely local and did not extend to the panic-stricken district. It would be harto conceive of any state of affairs there that could affect

The cashier, H. T. Chapman, of the Oriental Savings Bank, remarked that with them "everything was as easy as an old gieve." Theirs was a class of dealers having few business transactions in Wall-st.

At the Butchers' and Drovers' National Bank there was no change in the usual routine of business. Presi dent Perrin stated to the reporter that the bank could only be affected by a crisis in that district, which could not occur in connection with the present troubles in Wall-st. At the Bowery Savings Bank, notwithstanding the stormy weather, a large number of persons were in waiting ito make deposits, but none to draw out money President Brown stated that until recently they had been doing considerable business through Jay Cooke & Co. in Government securities, but at the time of the failure were in nowise interested. No loans were ever made except on Government stocks or mortgages easily At the Merchants' and Traders' and People's Savings

Banks were met the comparatively large number of idle cierks, all wishing for a change in the weather, and the renewal of their customary business. At the Germania Bank, the opinion was expressed that | DOMESTIC SEWING MACHINE CO., NEW-YORK. |

A SMALL BLACK FRIDAY. never have the up-town banks been in more comfortable circumstances. Few of them numbered any brokers

The same opinion was expressed at the German Exchange Bank. The cashier, J. W. Hesse, stated that they had little to do with the down-town banks, and no de-posits whatever. Some little business was done through the Chatham-st. Bank. There had been no marked variation in business at the Mechanics' and Traders' Bank during the day. The present troubles in Wall-st. were of no interest other than in a sympathetic point of view.

At the New-Amsterdam (German) Savings Bank the case was the same as with the others. By the terms of their charter they were debarred from dealing in railroad and other variable stocks, and could feel no unch siness in the present crisis. If anything, there had been a slight increase upon the average of daily deposits during the day.

T. W. Lillie, Secretary of the Metropolitan Savings Bank, had little to say. With them the day had passed as usually. Deposits had been made and others withdrawn. The suspension of banking institutions in Wallst, could in nowise affect them. So it was at the Buil's Head Bank. The cashier, Geo. F. Vail, stated that there had not been a variation of $5,000 in the deposits. It had been an idle day for those connected with the bank. At the Third Avenue Savings Bank, the Fifth National Bank, the Murray Hill, and the Manufacturers' and Traders' Banks, the respective officers repeated the remarks as given above.

HEAVY TRANSACTIONS AT THE FOURTH NATIONAL BANK.

The large amount of business transacted at the Fourth National Bank, at Pine and Nassau-sts., and the crowds inside awaiting their turn to address the tellers, gave rise to rumors that there was "a run on the Fourth National Bank." Inquiry, however, developed the fact that there was not the slightest truth in the rumer. Despite official announcements of its stability, crowds around the door, in the bank, and on the opposite sidewalk, seemed to give cre-dence to the rumer, and the presence of po-licemen in the bank greatly added to the spread of the report. Mr. Calhoun, the President of the bank, when questioned regarding the report, said that the bank was not in the slightest trouble, and that the multitude of people in the institution was no greater than during active seasons. The checks, he said, which would ordinarily go into the bank without certification are now brought forward. He did not believe that the noney paid out would exceed $250,000, a comparatively trifling sum. He concluded by stating that there was not the slightest ground for alarm. . [For other details of the Panic, see First and Seventh Pages.]

THE HUNTINGTON MYSTERY.

The court-room in Ried's Hotel in Oyster Bay was crowded throughout the day yesterday, and the most intense interest was manifested in the proceedings. District-Attorney Tuthill was present, with Messrs. Platt and Youngs as legal advisers to the Coroner. Mr. Stansborough, who is retained in the Sammis interest, was also present, an interested observer. A large number of witnesses were examined, but no impertant testimony was elicited, except from Constable Trainer, whose evidence was severe on Dr. Banks, show ng conclusively that if he was not engaged in the out rage upon Kelsey, he was knowing to it.
